

3M Streetwise

East,

Child Road Safety Road accidents are the single biggest cause of accidental death among 5-14 year olds - a statistic that encouraged 3M to make child road safety the key theme of its community programme. 3M created this online resource for use with primary school pupils. The content was written by teachers with the help of the Department for Transport and Brake, the road safety charity. Now start by choosing the most relevant section from the buttons above to start learning about Child Road Safety and be Streetwise from now on! 3M Streetwise has been designed to support PSHE and Science lessons for 7-11 year olds, and aid cross-curricular work in Geography, Maths and English. Materials align to year groups, according to QCA guidelines. The Guide to using this site gives you useful background and Overview of topics offers access to lesson plans and activity sheets, along with curriculum relevance for the three topic area of this site: Road safety, Science and Bright thinking for cyclists. You will need to fill in a very simple registration form in order to access the download materials.
